1. Introduction for Candidates

You are undertaking a course that leads to a nationally regulated qualification awarded by the Counselling and Psychotherapy Central Awarding Body (CPCAB) – the only nationally regulated awarding body to specialise in the field of counselling and supervision.

This qualification is intended for candidates who want to learn the skills to provide clinical supervision for counselling practitioners. It is aimed at counsellors who have acquired sufficient client work experience to contemplate the move into a supervision role. You will need to:

- » Have both supervisees and supervisory supervision.
- » Be working as a counsellor under supervision.

You will learn the essential skills necessary to supervise counselling practitioners who are working with clients at CPCAB service levels A and B (see Part 1 of the CPCAB's Model). The supervisory skills learned will equip you to manage the fundamental aspects of the clinical supervisor's role, including:

- » Providing supervisee support and guidance.
- » Encouraging self-review.
- » Monitoring supervisee progress.
- » Managing legal and ethical boundaries.
- » Developing awareness of the supervision process.
- » Working with relationship issues which impact on both the counselling and supervision process.

2. Qualification Structure

This qualification is made up of seven mandatory learning outcomes and associated assessment criteria. This structure is based on the seven processes of the CPCAB's Model.

Tip:

Think of the assessment criteria as learning tasks which you complete and then record so that your tutor can see you have achieved the task.

To achieve the qualification, you MUST be internally assessed by your tutor as Proficient in all 7 learning outcomes.

This qualification is eligible for fully in-person, blended or online delivery.

3. Internal Assessment

Art students keep a portfolio of their coursework which they use to show other people what they, as artists, have learnt. In a similar way you need to keep a portfolio of your coursework, which you can use to show your tutor what you have learnt. Keeping a portfolio of your coursework will not only provide your tutor with evidence of your learning, but also really help you with the learning process itself.

You also need to complete your (Candidate Learning Record \(CLR\)), which should be placed at the front of your portfolio to signpost the evidence for each assessment criterion. The CLR has brief notes beside each assessment criterion to help you understand what is being asked for and guidelines on how to record your learning.

You must give two pieces of evidence for each criterion. In addition, the CLR (when complete) must include references to the following three types of course work.¹:

1. Documents – You must include the regular exploration of your learning (called the learning review) which contains your reflections on the input, discussions, experiences and readings for the course. You must also include here 1 self-review (see section below on the tutor-assessed self-review), at least 2 written assignments, and records of supervisee work and supervisory supervision. You might also include here a self-review of audio/video recordings (including verbatim transcripts), tutorial records (when written by you) and notes on your personal development.²
2. Tutor observation – You must include records of tutor feedback on your supervision skills practice sessions and case presentations. You might also include tutor feedback on group discussions (including your contributions to seminars, group-work and group training supervision). You might also include tutorial records (when written by your tutor).
3. Testimony – You must include records of peer feedback on your supervision skills practice sessions, plus a supervisor's report. You might also include peer feedback on your case presentations and your contributions to group discussions, plus peer feedback on your contributions to seminars, group-work and group training supervision.
 - See TCSU-L6 Specification for a summary of minimum assessment requirements.
 - See the CPCAB film on How to build a student portfolio.

¹ Please note that if it is appropriate you can reference the same section of your portfolio, or the same piece of work, a number of times.

² Your personal development may result from insights gained from the course, other personal development work, tutorials or from personal counselling.

Tip:

It is a good idea to outline possible sections in your portfolio, for example:

- Document: learning reviews
- Document: self-reviews
- Tutor observation: tutor feedbacks on supervision skills practice
- Testimony: peer feedbacks on supervision skills practice

An example reference in your CLR might read: Learning review p 21, para 3, lines 3-6 (document)
Skills feedback Sheet No. 6, line 29 (testimony)

CPCAB recommends that you attach Criteria Assessment Sheet (CAS) to any work you hand in to your tutor for assessment. Your tutor can use the CAS to tell you which criteria you have met and to give you helpful feedback throughout the course. In this way you can gradually collect evidence as you go along and keep track of what evidence you still need to look out for.

Self-review

Towards the end of your course your tutor will support you to complete a self-review of your learning. A template document is available on the CPCAB website. This will allow you to reflect on what you have learnt and show your understanding of supervision work. Your tutor will assess your self-review and provide you with feedback on how you are progressing towards competence in all 7 areas. If you need to undertake any specific activities to address areas for development your tutor's feedback will explain how to do so.

Tip:

Meeting criteria is important, but the experience of learning about supervision should be much richer than criteria. Try to keep a balance.

After you have completed your portfolio your tutor will look at the evidence you have referenced in your Candidate Learning Record (CLR) and assess whether or not you have completed the assessment criteria, achieved the learning outcomes and met all the other qualification requirements. They may well decide that you are not yet Proficient – and will identify what you still need to complete/achieve and how you might work towards doing this.

- Your tutor will give you further guidance on developing your portfolio, the three types of coursework and filling in the Candidate Learning Record.

The final assessment of your work is recorded on the Completion Statement at the end of your Candidate Learning Record.

Tip:

It is important to realise that simply presenting evidence to meet criteria may not be sufficient to meet the overall learning outcomes and/or the qualification requirements. Your tutor may have observed substantive evidence which indicates that a specific assessment criterion or learning outcome has not been met despite evidence you have submitted. If that is the case, they may record a final result of Not Proficient on the basis of contraindications.

Please note that all the work you include in your portfolio is assessable material, so it may be seen not just by your tutor but also by all those involved in your training centre's internal assessment process or any associated appeal or complaint. Such people will include the internal moderator and verifier as part of internal quality assurance (IQA) as well as the CPCAB external verifier.

4. Equal Opportunities and Reasonable Adjustments

In order to make sure that assessment is fair to all candidates, CPCAB requires all recognised centres to have an effective candidate support system in place and to make appropriate arrangements to meet individual assessment needs. You can ensure that your own learning and assessment needs are being met by discussing your own needs/difficulties with your tutor, who can ensure that you receive the appropriate support at your centre. Please talk to your centre prior to your enrolment and about any additional support that you may need regarding learning and assessment.

Please see CPCAB's Reasonable Adjustment Guidance for Centres.

Both CPCAB and centres are required to recognise and comply with both the spirit and the word of equal opportunities legislation. Previous Acts were amalgamated into the Equality Act 2010.

See CPCAB's Equal Opportunities Policy.

5. Appeals and Complaints

CPCAB are committed to maintaining standards across our recognised centres so that the public can have confidence in us and our qualifications. We provide our own complaints and appeals policies for the benefit of centres and candidates.

- Please view our policies on Complaints, Appeals and Whistleblowing on the CPCAB website.

All CPCAB approved centres are required to have a complaints and appeals procedure which is available to candidates. Candidates must address all appeals about internal assessment or complaints about any aspect of their learning experience on the course via the centre's own internal complaints and appeals procedures. It is the centre's responsibility to make these procedures available to candidates.

Candidates who contact CPCAB directly on these issues will normally be directed back to their centre.

6. Additional Qualification Requirements

In addition to meeting the assessment criteria and learning outcomes, you need to meet the following additional course requirements:

Supervision work experience

You are required to complete 15 hours minimum of clinical supervision work with therapeutic counsellors. This can take place one to one or in a group and can be counsellors in an agency setting or private practice.

Candidates can complete placement hours for this qualification in-person, online/telephone, or a mix of both. The maximum amount of online placement hours will depend on the individual's own practice methods, and no CPCAB limit is set. Work with your centre to ensure you only undertake work in a format where you are well prepared, competent and appropriately supported. You should maintain records of the type of session in your supervision log.

Supervisory supervision

You are required to have clinical supervision for all your supervisory work – a minimum of 5 hours during the length of the course. You should ensure that you arrange sufficient and appropriate supervision to meet professional body requirements. You also need to ensure that your supervision arrangements are approved by your tutor. You need to keep a log of your supervision hours. Your supervisory supervisor is required to complete a report on your work.

Group training supervision

You are required to take part in group training supervisory supervision as part of your course. You will be expected to present your work as a supervisor, receive supervisory support and challenge from tutors and peers, and learn from and challenge other candidates in the group. The emphasis here is on examining professional and therapeutic issues relating to your supervision work as a trainee supervisor.

Personal tutorials

You will be offered tutorials throughout your course to support your learning, develop your practice and help you identify learning goals. Your tutors will also take the opportunity of tutorials to raise any concerns likely to affect the outcome of your assessment. You need to keep a record of your tutorials in your portfolio.

7. Candidate Feedback

Your feedback is vital to CPCAB to ensure the ongoing quality of our qualifications. Feedback enables us to meet our requirements as a regulated Awarding Organisation and contributes towards our annual qualification review process. Please ensure that you complete the online feedback survey at the conclusion of your course.
